

date Thu, May 28, 2009 at 9:17 AM
subject FISH, GARDENS & A COVE

SHELLFISH AT THE MARKET

Fresh Rhode Island lobster, oysters, steamers and little necks are now on sale at the Pawtuxet Village Farmers Market. Last week, Matunuck Oyster Farm of South Kingstown joined the market. Their stand is manned by a Chris Andrikos, a Cranston West graduate who is attends the University of Rhode Island's aquaculture program.

GREEN GROUPS AT MARKET

Saturday, the Edgewood Garden Club will provide gardening tips at booth at the market. Buy some plant starts from Moosup River Farm, Pak Express, Blue Sky's Flower Farm or Zephyr Farm and get planting advice from the farmers and the local garden club.

Green Neighbors, a new Edgewood organization that encourages individual responsibility and sharing for a greener world, will also have a table at the market. They are working on some small projects and hope to tackle some larger ones like negotiating group price breaks for people interested in solar or wind power and promoting insulating/weatherproofing. Stop by their table and find out more.

COVE GATHERING

The Edgewood Waterfront Preservation Association, the group that works to protect Stillhouse Cove in Cranston, will hold its annual meeting Monday June 1 at 7 PM at Hall Library in Cranston. The public is welcome.

Save those popsicle sticks.

See you at the market.